

Win-win process

Benefits for becoming green tourism businesses include cost savings in water, energy and waste management, a better environmental image and a better environment for guests and proud staff. The Green Key also acts as a management tool, and many consider this a major advantage of the scheme.

- ✓ Be environmental reducing the footprint in energy, water, waste management.
- ✓ Be responsible and reliable to clients and employees.
- ✓ Be efficient and effective in savings.

We are dedicated to build sustainable relationships and help you grow and prosper for a green future!

Elias Consulting is committed to help to setup your own cost-saving pathways and promote sustainability to your employees to your guests, to the community.

Value for life

Green Key

Green Key makes business become responsible and reliable to the guests eyes, showing that establishments are not only busy with guest experience but also going further facing environmental challenges.

Our way of working

Elias Consulting is a young sustainability consultancy firm, founded in 2011. We help companies to bring sustainability into practice and to create sustainable value.

Our mission is to 'create value for life', one of the most precious things in the world! Elias Consulting works with experienced sustainability (partner) consultants with expertise in the field of strategy, business and sustainability analytics, change and performance management and communications. It has (international) clients in the field of food & beverage, water technology, energy, public sector and investment.

We are dedicated to build sustainable relationships and help you grow and prosper for a green future!

Elias Consulting help to setup your own cost-saving pathways and promote sustainability to your guests, and get certified with Green Key.

Elias Consulting promotes and helps you to raise awareness, to reduce your footprint and become greener and certified.

Our GreenKey program promotes environmental awareness at your hotel, resort or other leisure establishment. We offer support at any stage for the whole program or just for specific needs.
